Information comes to us that Matt Browning is one of the most ardent Brewer supporters and is the author of much of the Morning Examiner's editorial attack on William Glasmann, in which the waterworks question is made the constant theme, and in which Brewer is lauded for the purchase of the waterworks system.

A SHORT POLITICAL DRAMA IN ONE ACT.

This is the most puzzling phase of the present campaign, that Matt Browning, who is said to have instigated the sale of the waterworks, and who was one of the principal owners who lost so much money in making the sale, is now the bosom companion and champion of the man who, when the deal was made, openly boasted that:

"We cracked our whip and made the owners of the waterworks cringe and crawl until they came to our terms."

We say we are puzzled in an effort to reconcile what Brewer said at that time with Matt Browning's present attitude.

January 1, 1909—Brewer with a blacksnake in his hand about to strike a blow.

Matt Browning, with a diadem he is wearing, crawling toward Brewer in order to avoid a lashing.

Brewer knocks the crown from the head of the prostrate man and plucks the richest jewel from the brilliant setting and waves the object of his subjugation back.

Matt has large welts on his body where the blacksnake has cut his purple robe. His face shows extreme dejection and helplessness—his richest treasure has been abstracted and he is left to bathe his wounds in the stream of tears which has formed a briny pool at his feet.

(Brewer disappears from the scene.)
Matt (raising an arm in imprecation)—Brewer, you have despoiled me. (Raising his eyes) Witness, high heaven, I swear to be revenged!

Time goes by and the scene shifts. There is a fanfare of trumpets. Lo, behold, a parade! Here comes Matt in Grecian costume, his arms and legs bare. He might look the part of a Gladiator if his costume was less abbreviated. With him is Alex Brewer, also in warrior costume, but Alex is wearing the diadem he so ruthlessly tore from the head of Matt. The martial music has drawn a great crowd, and the people having heard how Alex, playing master, had whipped Matt into abject subservience and had raised great welts, are agog with excitement, for they have sensed the meaning of it all, and the cry has gone up, "A duel, a duel!"

Spectators are saying to each other: "This is to be the bloody ending to the quarrel in which Alex hogged Matt and forced him to give over jewels equal to the ransom of a king."

Hark! There are loud guttaws and the people are geying the men. Some one is announcing that Alex and Matt have always been the best of friends, that Matt had asked Alex to do what he had done, and that instead of a duel, the men had put on the costumes simply to enjoy the company of each other in a tete-a-tete and a plunge in the city waterworks.

Of course, there is great disgust on the part of the people. They think they have been shammed, and that explains the hoarse guttaws and jeering. Matt, turning to Alex, says: "Come, let us hurry on. The people resent our alliance. They are saying, 'This explains much.' Shall we walk rapidly?"

Alex—No, do not walk, let us run, for I have heard it said, "It is better to run away and live to FIGHT—ha, ha ha" (Matt casts a furtive glance of reproach)—some other day.

They both laugh and the people take after them with a miscellaneous assortment of bric-a-brac.

WATERWORKS REPORT CREATES A SENSATION.

A Democrat said this morning to an astonished that men professing honesty of purpose should issue such false reports as that of the city's last waterworks statement and, furthermore, that they should attempt to conceal the truth by such trickery. I take this position: If, what you people call the "inner circle" did this willfully, they should be driven from public office. If they did it ignorantly, they should be hooted from public life. I confess, as a Democrat, I am amazed, and to add emphasis to my disapproval of the methods pursued, I will state I have decided to vote the Republican ticket."

When a Democrat talks so plainly and directly in rebuke of his own party leaders, there can be no doubt as to the impression the startling disclosures in connection with the last waterworks report have made throughout the city.

Men in office, who will deliberately falsify their official reports, are unfit for public office.

TWO SIDES TO THE RATE QUESTION.

The railroad traffic managers recently employed a man named McCain to draw up an elaborate argument demonstrating that operating expenses had increased so radically in the last decade as to make an advance in rates imperative if the roads were to be saved from bankruptcy. The publication and wide circulation of this document has led shippers to believe that the railroads contemplate a renewal of the effort reluctantly abandoned last year to raise rates 10 per cent all around. The shippers of the middle west are already organizing to meet this movement and meetings with this purpose are being held in Illinois, Ohio and Indiana.

In pursuance of this movement the shippers have prepared the following figures:

Net income a mile of railroad for 1907 exceeded that for 1897 by $1,534, an increase of 345 per cent.
Net income of all roads, 1907, $449,461,188.
Net income of all roads, 1897, $81,257,506.
Gain for 1907 over 1897, $368,203,682.
Increase of 453 per cent.
Surplus from operation of all roads for 1907 exceeded the net income for 1897 by $60,065,785.
Stock paying dividends increased from $1,603,549,978 in 1897 to $4,948,756,202 in 1907, an increase of $3,345,206,225.
Rate of dividend on stock increased from 5.42 per cent in 1897 to 6.23 per cent in 1907, an increase of 14.7 per cent.

Read Glasmann's speech in tonight's Standard. It tells you how he stands on the waterworks.

W. H. Toller, J. D. Skeen and M. S. Browning are the press committee of Brewer's ring of politicians, and they are the men who are furnishing the "dope" in attacking Republicans.

Who is putting up the money to pay all the workers soliciting votes for Mayor Brewer? Don't let any paid workers of the Brewer ring mislead you. Read Glasmann's speech in tonight's Standard.

The Brewrites are squirming because Glasmann strikes back straight from the shoulder. Who was it that made the first attack? Anybody who kicks William Glasmann in this campaign must expect to be kicked back.

A Brewrite said yesterday, "Oh, Bill has you hypnotized." "Yes," was the response. "You fellows accuse 'Bill' of everything under the sun, and I voted against him twice, but when he quit the office of mayor and asked his Democratic successor to audit his books and every dollar was accounted for, I went over and told Bill that from that time on, all the lies they could manufacture would not make me vote against him again. I am for Bill and so is my whole family."

Charles Humphris has promised that Brewer will build waterworks extensions to West Ogden in return for the votes of the people of West Ogden. The law makes such a promise a prison offense. This is notice to Brewer what his lieutenant is doing.

After turning the waterworks over to the Democratic members of the city council to manage, the Brewrites are saying that there were some Republicans in the council. Yes, but why were they excluded from the waterworks management?

government was described today by George E. Birge, a customs weigher, a witness in the trial of Antonio and Philip Musica cheese importers.

After telling how he had under weighed a large importation of cheese for the Musicas and received $134 as his share, Birge said he had similar dealings with what most of other firms of importers. He declared also that there was a regular system of cheating in which a number of customs employees were involved. Birge is one of three weighers who have confessed and is testifying for the government.

An echo of the government's suits against the American Sugar Refining company, was brought out by Birge's testimony. He said prior to his operations for the Musicas and others, he had been almost exclusively employed in underweighing and cheating on behalf of the sugar people.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON STIRS UP INTEREST IN CUP RACE

New York, Oct. 20.—The coming of Sir Thomas Lipton to the United States has stirred up a deal of interest as to what measure of success the Irish baronet will have in his endeavors to bring about another race for the America's cup.

Sir Thomas is expected here on the steamship Cedric Saturday and will ascertain from members of the New York Yacht club whether they will accept a challenge for the history cup under the universal rules which now govern races held by the New York Yacht club, or whether the club still insists that the cup contest must be held under the old conditions which permit the greatest maximum of speed upon a given water line length without other restrictions.

Sir Thomas holds that the old rule has resulted in the development of freak yachts of such flimsy construction that there is grave danger of the challenger going to pieces at sea, while being brought to this country on her own bottom, as provided for in the conditions of the contest.

But under the present racing rules Sir Thomas believes that a fast substantial yacht can be built and the challenging cup can be assured of some chance of success.

The baronet hopes to convince the New York Yacht club that a race for the America's cup can never again be held under the old conditions and that if the club maintains the attitude it took two years ago, it is equivalent to locking up the classic "mug" in the club's trophy room. It was learned today, however, that unless the present feeling among the influential club members undergoes a change, Sir Thomas's visit is likely to fail.

"Doubtless many members of the club and the public generally would like to see another Shamrock in these waters," said a prominent officer of the New York Yacht club today, "but Sir Thomas must challenge under the old conditions which are provided for in the deed of gift. The feeling of the club has undergone no change since Sir Thomas's challenge was declined two years ago."

DISTORTED NEWS OF ACTIVITY OF OFFICERS

New York, Oct. 20.—News of the activity of certain officers at this port apparently has been received by Americans abroad in more or less distorted form. Judging by a letter received by Mayor McClellan today from a woman in Paris and turned over to Collector Loeb. The letter says:

"I am in receipt of letters telling of pinching, poking and being personally felt of. Decent women are not perfectly safe. I have been in nearly every country on the globe and have met with consideration, kindness and respect. I make two exceptions—Turkey and Central America, were not safe for white women unescorted—but one could hire protection in both these countries. The new Turkey and the English governments have made two countries safe and comfortable for women. It is only in coming home that I was afraid, and I ask again for police protection."

The letter is signed simply "A Woman Artist in Paris."

POSTMASTER DROPS DEAD OF HEART FAILURE

Washington, Oct. 20.—Benjamin W. Barnes, postmaster of this city and who served first as executive clerk under President McKinley and later as assistant secretary to President Roosevelt dropped dead here tonight of heart failure.

Mr. Barnes had been in particularly good humor owing to the fact that he had been today admitted to practice before the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

On at least two occasions Mr. Barnes came prominently into the limelight. One was at the time he was alleged to have played a part in ejecting Mrs. Minor Morris, a sister of Representative Hull of Iowa, from the White House. The incident created a sensation at the time.

President Roosevelt stood resolutely by Mr. Barnes, and further emphasized his friendship by appointing him about three years ago, as postmaster of Seattle, Wash. This and other reports in regard to the not very characterized today by assistant Secretary of State Wilson as mere speculation.

CRANE VACANCY HAS NOT BEEN FILLED

Washington, Oct. 20.—Despite rumors no one has yet been selected for the post of minister to China to succeed Charles R. Crane, whose resignation was recently selected by the president.

Among the many names that have been mentioned one of the most recent is that of Judge Thomas Burke of Seattle, Wash. This and other reports in regard to the not very characterized today by assistant Secretary of State Wilson as mere speculation.

In the bowl of the spoon, which is a long-handled one, is set a little device that looks for all the world like the screw propeller of a boat.

CONSTABLE IN JAIL.

Bakersfield, Cal., Oct. 20.—Justice of the Peace H. E. Coleman and Constable John Redd of Mojave are in jail here, charged with having accepted bribes.

Sheriff Kelly of Kern county sent detectives to Mojave to investigate the lawless conditions there, several murders and numerous robberies having occurred recently. The detective's passing as gamblers and thugs, reported to the sheriff that they were able to purchase immunity from the Mojave officials. The arrests followed.
